

An afternoon of playing real life Call of Duty!

As an end of term treat for good behaviour the students and staff went to visit District 23. A local airsoft and paintballing centre. Here the kids got to enjoy a game of airsoft.

During the game we found students hiding in buildings, under bridges, around corners, behind cars... And this time it wasn't to avoid work! It was to help their team gain an advantage during tactical games. Unfortunately though the trip was nearly cancelled after a staff member went missing and no one could find them.... Can you spot them?!

The students got to use replica semi-automatic weapons and got to chase staff around and get revenge for giving them work to do. I mean how dare a teacher give a student some work right!!!

Plenty of fun was had, and some people walked away like Dalmatian dogs covered in little dots.

Excellent new experience for the students which they all loved. Something they will definitely be trying again, this time with maybe more layers of clothing on though!
